PRESENTATION SUMMARIES

MODERATOR

Stephanie Shakofsky, Center for Creative Land Recycling

U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

Barbara Alfano, Brownfields and Land Revitalization Program, U.S. EPA Region 4

The EPA's mission is to protect human health and the environment and to that end, EPA offers many grant programs that support the revitalization and redevelopment brownfields, and the communities that surround them. EPA seeks to develop nationwide community stewardship of natural resources and to provide quality air and water resources for future generations.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Bryan Zulko, USDA Office of Rural Development

The USDA–RD program provides a number of funding sources targeted for rural communities designed to support community and brownfield development by providing resources for improved utilities, business development, and housing.

U.S. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

Luis Nieves-Ruiz, East Central Florida Regional Planning Council (ECFRPC)

As a partner with the EDA, the ECFRPC provides technical assistance and advises its constituent local governments in a number of EDA funding programs and redevelopment planning issues. The EDA offers a number of grants and technical assistance aimed to promote infrastructural redevelopment and economic revitalization of regions and communities in areas of high unemployment and economic distress.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING & URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Alesia Scott-Ford, U.S. HUD

While you're probably familiar with some of HUD's larger funding sources, such as the Community Development Block Grant, they also have a number of programs that target sustainable housing development and community development projects.

CASE STUDY

Anne Wallace, City of Knoxville

Anne will bring today's lessons into focus by providing an overview of Knoxville's successful brownfield redevelopment project—"The South Waterfront". This case study is designed to provide an understanding of the challenges in redeveloping brownfields, and insights into developing a team of professionals that can bring your project to fruition.
