June 2021

For immediate distribution: Internship with national environmental nonprofit

The Center for Creative Land Recycling (CCLR) has an exciting internship opportunity for an undergraduate or graduate student with an interest in research, program and policy analysis and a commitment to land reuse planning and sustainability.

CCLR is the oldest national non-profit pioneering brownfield and infill development to promote human and environmental health and economic revitalization. CCLR provides unparalleled support to local governments and non-profit development organizations in 10 states to convert abandoned, contaminated tracts of land, known as brownfields, into community assets. The process of redeveloping brownfields creates jobs, housing, businesses and/or green spaces and lays the groundwork for a resilient and vibrant community.

Primary Responsibilities:

The Intern will be assigned to work on priority projects, which could include:

1. Support the development of workshops, conferences and webinars on various topics.

2. Expand CCLR’s network by researching municipal/county planners and other targeted redevelopment stakeholders to add to CCLR’s database.

3. Conduct research into topics including state best practices to promote the cleanup and redevelopment of contaminated properties, workforce training in the environmental field, and siting renewable energy on brownfields.

4. Assist with communications, including newsletter development, blogs and case studies and marketing sheets.

5. Other as requested.
Requirements/Qualifications

- Self motivated, dependable, responsible, honest and able to work independently.
- Strong experience with Excel and Power Point. Indesign a plus.
- Experience creating surveys using google forms and Survey Monkey
- Experience with GIS mapping tool
- Participate in CCLR weekly staff meetings to learn about the organization and its accomplishments/projects. Technical training as needed.
- Passionate and inspired to build resilient, healthy communities through reclaiming brownfield properties.
- Strong organizational skills, attention to detail, and interest in research.
- Excellent writing and communication skills

For more information about CCLR, visit our website at www.cclrl.org

Remote Position: This is a remote, temporary position. Candidates must have regular access to the technology needed to execute the role.

Salary
This is a compensated position. Salary based on experience.

TO APPLY
Please send the following materials to devyn.rainwater@cclrl.org with your name and “CCLR Intern” in the subject line. Internship applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

- Cover letter
- Resume
- Writing sample

We seek talented and qualified individuals regardless of age, ancestry, color, creed, ethnicity, gender identity, marital status, military obligations, national origins, physical abilities, race, religion, socio-economic status, sexual orientation and veteran status.